SENATE URGES EXTRA SESSION

Ask Governor Stanley To Issue Call for Taxation Legislation

Frankfort, Ky. (Special)--Without a dissenting vote, the Senate passed a resolution Saturday requesting Governor Stanley to call a special session of the Legislature to pass a revenue and taxation bill. The resolution was offered by Senator Speer, an administration leader who declared that such a bill could be considered and passed in 30 days. A limit of 30 days is suggested in the resolution.

A resolution opposing a special session offered in the House failed to get recognition.

JUDGE SAMPSON HERE SUNDAY

Attended 65th Wedding Anniversary of Parents. Three Weeks More of Court at Williamsburg.

Among those in attendance at the celebration of the sixty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sampson Saturday. was Circuit Judge F. D. Sampson, who is holding court at Williamsburg. There are three weeks more of the Whitley term of court and in the absence of the regular Judge from the bench, H. C. Gillis, by agreement of 4,426.12 party litigants, consented to act as special Judge, thus affording Judge Sampson an opportunity to be present at the very noted and unusual celebration, that of a sixty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of his parents. The present term of court at Williamsburg is six weeks in length and nearly all of that time is being consumed in trying civil cases and clearing up the docket. There were no important felony cases at this term except one brought from Pulaski county, and fewer misdemeanor cases than usual. Judge Sampson is fast getting the would-be criminals and law violators to see the error of their ways by his firm stand for law and order. The good people of this district are proud of the record he has made, while on the bench, in the suppression of crime. Judge Sampson is popular and in the coming August primary for the Republican nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals he looks l.ke a winner.

Spelling Bee

The last of a Series of a spellng Bee given under the auspices of the Ladies Aid M. E. Church and Barbourville High School Band, was given Tuesday evening March 14th at the Court House. The Captains were Mrs. John W. Hughes and Mr. S. T. Steele of this city. A large line of spellers were soon chosen, and every seat in the large room was taken by spectators. The spelling was lively from start to finish, the "blue back" being used exclusive, beginning with the words baker, shady, lady, tidy &c including horse-back abaserent and all those hard pages hat have been studied by many in old time youngster. The line began to grow shorter as many a good speller forgot just exactly now he used to spell then and to take a seat. The contest grew more interesting and the words more difficult until only a few spellers were on the floor at closing time. Mrs. Hughes' side one and Mr. Steele's side three. The book used from which to pronounce was owned by Frances M. Rees, (who is quite a noted speller) and is reported as being the oldest copy io the county and perhaps in the State.

The Ladies desire to thank the town people far their co-operation and liberal patronage.

This is a mistaken idea, as sec. on which is on a fair way of evolutionizing the telephone syscem. As is well known, the American telephone is often very insatisfactory but the drawbacks are wholly eliminated by the Baryphone, which makes conversations on the longest distances just as clear as on short circuits, as the sound is carried to both ears and all noise excluded. Persons hard of hearing, who hitherto have been prohibited from using the telephone, can now use it with the aid of the Baryphone, which also will permit two persons to hear the message without ne use of the double telephone. The Baryphone is the only simple practical and effective sound inensifier in existence and is incomparably superior to all others especially as it leaves the hand ree for annotations during the conversation. Return.

His return to Troyon's, although an enterprise which Lanyard had been met his own, as if the Englishman contemplating for several years, ever were struggling with a faulty memory, since the death of Bourke, came to pass at length almost purely as an affair of impulse.

He had come through from London by the afternoon service-via Bou- a ramshackle taxicab logne—traveling light, with nothing but a brace of handbags and his life

GRAND PRIZE

WINNER

IN the Low Corn King catalogue it takes pages to tell about the good construction that backs up the "8-foot-wide spread from a narrow 45-inch box." Here the space is limited.

See the spreader and study these things: The simple worm and worm gear which drive the apron can be reversed, doubling the wear qualities. The gear is entirely enclosed, away from dust and dirt. The relation of beater and apron is just right to do the best work on the manure with the least power. Low Corn King is a steel spreader - frame. beater axles, wheels, driving parts—all of light, strong, compact steel. You return the apron by a convenient foot lever - no hand cranking, no getting down from seat.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emul-ion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

Scotland Yard would, he reckoned, require at least twenty-four hours to unlimber for action on the Omber affair: but the other, the disappearance of the Huysman plans, although not consummated before noon, must have set the chancelleries of at least three powers by the ears before Lanyard was fairly entrained at Charing Cross.

Now his opinion of Scotland Yard was low; its emissaries must operate gingerly to keep within the laws they serve. But the agents of the various continental secret services have a way making their own laws as they go long-and for these Lanyard entertained a respect little short of profound.

He would not have been surprised had he run foul of trouble on the pier at Folkestone. Boulogne, as well, figured in his imagination as a crucial point-its harbor lights, heaving up over the grim, gray waste, peered through the deepening violet dusk to find him on the packet's deck, re sponding to their curious stare with one no less insistently inquiring. But it wasn't until he reached the Gare du Nord itself that he found anything to shy at.

Dropping from train to platform, he surrendered his luggage to a ready facteur and followed the fellow through the crush, elbowed and shouldered, offended by the pervasive reek of chilled steam and coal gas and dazzled by the brilliant glare of the overhanging electric arcs.

Almost the first face he saw turned his way was that of Roddy

The man from Scotland Yard was stationed at one side of the platform gates. Opposite him stood another decorative official from the prefecture de police. Both were scanning narrowly every face in the tide that churned between them. Wondering if through some fatal freak of fortuity these were acting under late telegraphic advices from London, Lanyard held himself well in hand. The first indication of an intent to hinder him would have proved the signal for a spectacular demonstration of the ungentle art of not getting caught with the goods. And for twenty seconds, while the crowd milled slowly through the narrow exit. he was as near to betraying himself as he had ever been-nearer, for he had marked down the point on Roddy's jaw where his first blow would fall and just where to plant a coup de savate most surely to incapacitate the minion of the prefecture; and all the while he was looking the two over with a manner of the most calm and impersonal curiosity

But beyond an almost imperceptible narrowing of Roddy's eyes when they neither police agent betrayed a sign of recognition.

And then Lanyard was outside the station, his porter introducing him to "Troyon's!" he told the cocher. When at length his conveyance drew in his hands. Two coups to his credit up at the historic corner Lanyard, since the previous midnight had made the shift advisable, though only one to see the windows of Troyon's all of them, the later, rendered it urgent.

Somehow, and most unreasonably he had always believed the place would go to the hands of the house wrecker unchanged.

A smart portier ducked cut, seized his luggage and held an umbrella. Lanyard composed his features to immobility as he entered the hotel, of no mind to let the least flicker of recognition be detected in his eyes when they should encounter familiar faces. And this was quite as well-for gain the first he saw was Roddy's! The man from Scotland Yard had fust surrendered hat, coat and umbrella to the porter in the lobby, and was turning through swinging doors to the dining room. Again taking in Lanyard, his glance seemed devoid of any sort of intelligible expression; and before quitting the lobby Roddy paused long enough to order a fire laid in his room.

So he was stopping at Troyon'sand didn't care who knew it!

His doubts altogether dissipated by this discovery, Lanyard followed his natural enemy into the dining room with an air as devil-may-care as one could wish and so impressive that the maitre d'hotel abandoned the detective to the mercies of one of his captains and himself hastened to seat Lanyard and take his order.

This last disposed of, Lanyard surrendered himself to new impressionsof which the first proved a bit disheartening.

However impulsively, he hadn't sought Troyon's without definite intent, to wit, to gain some clue, how ever slender, to the mystery of that wretched child. Marcel. But now it appeared he had procrastinated fatally-time and change had left little other than the shell of the Troyon's he remembered. Papa Troyon was gone; madame no longer occupied the desk of the caisse; inquiries, so discreetly worded as to be uncompromising, elicited from the maitre d'hotel the information that the house had been under new management these eighteen months; the old proprietor was dead, and his widow had sold out lock, stock and barrel, and retired to the country, it was not known exactly where. And with the new administration had come fresh decorations and furnishings and a complete change of personnel-not even one of the old waiters remained.

INDOOR WORKER IS HANDICAPPED

Office Men Often Pay Penalty of Indoor Grind

We can't all be devotees of the great out-of-doors, and so the office men and women too often pay the penalty of the all-day grind at the desk.

There comes in many cases the sluggishness that is bred of physical inactivity and the ailments that mark the indoor man for their own.

To say "I feel good all over" is to speak the acme of content, and when this is supplemented by a steady, healthy increase in weight after a long period of suffering, the fortunate man usually feels that he wants to share his good luck with the less fortunate "other fellow."

It is this spirit that prompts so many prominent business men in every communit to endorse Tanlac. Tanlac assist nature to throw off depression and in its place to stimulate the system, with the result that energy and vigor return.

That "tired feeling" means a good deal more than is generally SAVE MONEY realized. It is one of the symptoms of a more serious condition. It is not laziness, it is a physical ailment that needs correction before it takes a firm hold on you. The results of the Tanlac treatment are amazing.

Tanlac tends to make tired out, listless persons sturdy and of real manhood and womanhood like those old-fashioned but most sensible folks-the pioneers.

As a tonic, appetizer and invigorant, nothing ever has been discovered that will compare with membranes.

Satisfied users of Tanlac have proven to be Tanlac's best advertisers. Men and women, complaint. from the highest to the lowest walks of life, everywhere are testifying daily to the relief Tanlac has brought them. No other superlative merits.

The Amazing thing about the New Grant Six isn't the price it's the quality

Of course, being dealers you are prepared to discount our statements regarding the cars we sell. But honestly, the new Grant is simply a wonder.

It has six-inch longer wheel base and that permits a bigger, roomier body.

The Grant Company took advantage of the situation and got the largest and handsomest body ever put on a car priced below a thousand.

This body has nifty lines—it is what the trade call modified boat-line type—not extreme, but quiet, dignified and modest looking with real style.

The cushions are deeper and softer-and the side lines are high so that knees don't peep out over the edge.

And Grant Six has many bigger cars beaten in the ample legroom it gives both front and rear. Even a six-footer couldn't complain of being cramped in a Grant Six.

But it's the motor that gives you the real thrill. Press your foot on the accelerator and she moves off so swiftly that you realize you've touched something extremely sensitive. 50 miles in a few blocks is nothing

Then when you throttle down to 11/2 miles an hour-and all the pull there—no gasping and choking and dying—but real pull—you realize that you have been driving a onder motor. And when you know Grent Six owners rarely get less than 20 miles—often as high as 28 miles out of a gallon of gasoline—you will gain some conception of the mechanical excellence embodied in this remarkable SIX.

Don't forget we are talking about a SIX—a car that gives you the best of the SIX virtues plus amazing economy—both in first cost and cost of operating.

Will you let Grant Six go through the paces for you?

Better phone us for a demoustration now—while we can still name delivery dates.

Pee Gee Screen Enamel

you are intending to build, repaint or redecorate, you should investigate the merits of Pee Gee Finishes. Remember the cost of labor is the same whether you use poor paints and varnishes or the Pee Gee kind. You want your buildings, inside and outside, to look attractive. You want to avoid the expense and trouble of frequent refinishing. Specify Pee Gee Finishes—the kind that has stood the test for almost a half a century.

Every

TOVERS more surface, lasts longer, looks better and is more economical than Keg Lead and Oil, hand mixed paint or ordinary ready mixed paint. MASTIC PAINT is made of pure White Lead, re-inforced with Zinc Oxide in the correc proportions, and pure Linseed Oil. It does not scale and keeps its color for years. The formula appears on every can.
